Telephone No. 119.

Created March 10th, 1912.

Amount of the eighth issue printed, is a good March issue.

It is the custom of the world to get up in the morning, or about a dog.

The glad news comes from Georgia that the peach crop is safe, or about.

Visible fact is at the front about as often as any one else is about the cotton house.

It will probably take a week or two to throw the rope around a few hundred-dollar candidates as soon have been held enough to announce this fact.

Once a fellow gets in state job and leaves the politicians by hanging a round the capital, it takes a pack of dogs to get his house.

It will be a long time before Mexico has a president to walk out of the country with more money than Diaz carried with him.

If, as Senator Hiram, he says, duly called the tough figure, he had his own mighty close to the ground the first sound.

When the votes are counted, it will be seen, evidently, that the house of governors that endorsed the presidential candidates didn't do much with the job.

Just what William J. Bryan wants with another adjournment is more than we can judge, unless it is a sort of a family note, that will go without his being present.

Some artist has made a beautiful estimate of the pictures belonging to J. P. Morgan, and says his collection is worth fifty million dollars.

If we could get some of that three quarters of a million idle miners from England over here, there would be no labor problem, provided they are not above doing the soil.

Whenever spring does come, it will put in its appearance in South Alabama first. You can find the yellow, and the black, and the honey suckles, showing it be the time anything does.

Something caught one of John D. Chickens the other night, at Tallahassee, and the item was telegraphed all over the country, and it didn't take whether from pale or from cotton gin.

The postmasters of this small outland are standing up to a mob or mob. They will not take any interest on themselves, although he on the most of them in their place.

It Roosevelt admits that he was taken in Tall, he must consider at the people have a right to see his judgment when he tells a people that he is the man in the place.

There is nothing like making a out on a bad job, one that you want, and put off from day to day. Many cases, a bad job, is like expected trouble; it never puns out as you expected it.

Be it seven or eight governors, the endorse a presidential candidate, we think it matters but little. A governor can endorse candidate and then think but little about that way.

KEEP BATAING IT.

There is nothing offering so much relief to the farmers of this country as the proposed packing house. If the project is pushed, and nothing else does about it, why it goes like many other things talked of but not backed up by action.

This section of the country can produce a many hours as any section anywhere.

We have all advantages and no one to grow when the boll season comes.

Packing houses are following in the wake of the boll weevil. This is history, and there places where packing houses have been established and are building. They are a protection as they were before the boll weevil came, and a good deal more independent. They didn't have to plant cotton for a money crop, but when they can have a fresh crop of fruit, coming on all seasons of the year, which can then be marketed, without waiting for a cold spell of weather.

We believe that if the farmer will increase his hog production to three times the number now raised, that the extra cost will be too small to figure on, and that enough hogs will then be produced in this section to supply a packing house another year.

In Texas, where the boll weevil first struck the United States, packing houses started up, and as the search of the boll weevil brought him east, packing houses followed through Louisiana, Mississippi, and one is sure to come to Montgomery in Alabama, if not both places. If that is the fact, if those two places have a packing house, there is no reason why Dothan shouldn't have one. Why the territory.

But to raise hogs for packing houses, they must be cared for. Not necessarily cared for all the way through—one of the cheapest ways of fattening them—and when they are fat, a few weeks feeding with corn, will harden the fat as if they had been fed all the time on it.

To have the corn, it takes modern methods of planting, and increased acreages. This is the time to figure it out, and make some preparation. It is better to have the amount of corn, and twice the number of hogs this year, than to have another big crop of cotton.

When the hogs come, the packing house will come.

COAR LINE IN THE LAW.

Attorney General Wickersham is no slouch. He is having a scrap with the American Bar Association, trying to find his negro assistant's membership in that organization, while it claims he was made a member while the committee was looking the other way, and a proper way would not on his application. Any way, they didn't know he was a negro, but Mr. Wickersham pointed out that there is nothing in the constitution of the American Bar Association to prevent a negro from holding membership in it.

One of the most prominent Dothan attorneys remarked about the Alabama Bar Association a few short months ago, when it was established that one thing and then another, that it was composed of a lot of "jack-leg lawyers," any way.

If the American Bar Association is composed of some of the same kind of lawyers, then it probably makes but little difference whether Attorney General Wickersham succeeds in holding W. H. Lewis' membership in that organization or not.

It there is a loop hole that allows a negro to join, the lawyers who frame the laws that govern most of us, will fix up that constitution in time. It will be amended to fit the case.

PROVERBS ONCE MORE.

Many will intrude the favor of a prince.

The devotion of a man detesteth his enemy.

He that hath pity upon the poor lengtheneth to the Lord.

Chasten thy son while there is hope.

A man of great wrath shall suffer punishment.

The tent of the Lord endureth; he that hath it shall abide; he shall not be visited with evil.

Smite a scorner and the simple will beware.

Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise.

Most men will proclaim every one his own goodness.

Even a child is known by his doings.

Take his garment that is surety for a stranger.

A gift in secret pacifieth anger.

The rich and poor meet together: the Lord is maker of them both.

SCHOOL DENTISTRY.

"Great progress has been made in establishing the principle of relationship between the teeth and the entire physical and mental economy of the individual," says Clinton Rogers Woodruff, in discussing the school dentistry in the American city. The movement for the proper care of teeth under public supervision rapidly to be making much more speedy headway than did the medical inspection of children at the start.

Philadelphia, for instance, has a dental dispensary in the department of health and charities. The Newark dentists maintain two dental clinics. The initial dispensary at Rochester was maintained in a public school. In one year, 709 children were treated. In New York City there are eighteen clinics distributed throughout the five boroughs. There of these are maintained by the Children's Aid Society; the others are connected with general dispensaries or medical colleges.

One of the health commissioners of New York stated that in a recent examination of 400,000 pupils of the schools of New York City, it was found that nearly 300,000 needed treatment for defective or decayed teeth.

School dentistry has received a great impetus in Germany through the appointment of a German dental committee which was formed to take the matter up. It having been impressed on the nation by Mr. Muller, of Berlin, and others, that systematic treatment of the teeth is an important line of defense against tuberculosis. The care and treatment of the teeth of school children is a comparatively recent innovation in Germany (1902), owing largely to Dr. Jensen, of Strassburg, where the dental clinics forms a part of a large public structure devoted to swimming baths, Turkish baths, medical baths, and school clinics, the whole costing $375,000.

Education officer Blair, of the London County Council, has been investigating the dental clinics at Berlin, Cologne and Strassburg. He found that as regards the necessity of erecting school dental clinics there was no difference of opinion. There was, however, the question of cost. The clinics would give free treatment to all elementary school children as regarded as the ideal, the German finding it difficult to discriminate between those who are not able to pay. He reports that some clinics have given up free treatment, and only do extractions and give advice free, while charging a small sum for fillings, and that only in very poor cases is free treatment given. It always has been shown that parents of small means pay for treatment grudgingly. Instead of paying a lump sum it was proposed that installments should be paid; for instance, 1 mark (21 cents) a year. This system is equivalent to insurance, and preferable to paying in a lump sum, and through it the insurance association, especially the existing family assurance association, can have the children permanently treated.

THE COAR LINE.

Out in California, where they stand on their hind legs the negro isn't allowed to attend the schools along with the whites. A negro stole 50c worth of food. He was caught, and confessed, and got five years in the pen.

In Alabama had a hungry negro appeared, some white man would have sent him to the back door for a square meal, and then shown him the world pile of food he wouldn't have been forced to stand something to eat.

Whenever heard of an Alabama court trying a negro for stealing something to eat, unless it was taking a whole hog? Then he would come out mighty light, if he made a good showing about his needs of so much meat at one time.

Amid by the name of Nicholas—Charles Wilbur De Lyon Nicholas—has compiled a list of the really great social leaders of Philadelphia, and it totals but 32. They all have money, much money, and of course, several hundred other people in Philadelphia are rich, and were left on the flat too. Just why they should be put off so about having their names left out is more than we can see, since they have the same right to make a list of their own, just as good as the man who subscribes himself, Charles Wilbur De Lyon Nicholas, to the "The Lion."

If time were to do anything, it often does, then young William Vincent Andor is likely to become a brother-in-law to his father. It is said that he is about to marry Miss Porro, sister of his step-mother. When the New York papers run out of something to write about, a story about some of the Andors or the Vanderbilts, who are about to marry some more.

Somebody has proposed that the federal census be taken every five years instead of ten. We have no objections, except the enormous cost. Think how much it would cost to take the number of new cars, clerks, for it would have to be done, since it takes about nine years to compile all the statistics that are gathered during one month, every ten years.

It is said the street railway in Washington, D.C., has been done away with. It was operated by mules and mules became so valuable and feed stuff so high, and the team folks had such a sinking habit, that the street railroad couldn't do anything operating it in a free town like that. Just between us three, we never heard before that Washington, D.C., had a street railroad.

The Holston Times, not much of a Yale South man anyhow, think that the friends of Klotz are putting him forward to weaken Underwood's following, in order to throw the strength to Wilson, who might, in turn, put Klotz in his cabinet. Rather farfetched reasoning, but it may be right. We don't know.

Just how any southern man or southern paper can fail to stand for Underwood is more than we can see. He is as able a man as any the nation possesses, and we will never know whether the north will help us elect a southern democrat till we put one up for them.

If the papers of this country were to print all the free stuff sent them in the interest of the various candidates, they would have but little else, but they would be representing all the candidates of national interest.

Whenever a man moves out of Alabama he never feels entirely satisfied till he comes back. He may think for a while that all is well, but he comes to realize later that living in another country, after once having lived in Alabama is bad business.

It often happens that when you call one's bluff it isn't there.

KNIGHTS.

Some men impress you with what they are trying to keep you from finding out about, and others impress you for the reverse.

People have such a habit of doing certain things certain ways, till it is a hard matter to get many people to try something new.

Most mothers are not satisfied till they get all the best grin on the plates for the children.

It takes some young married couples four or five years to find out the real cost of high living.

The young thing that marries an old man for his money, often wonders at the remarkable vitality of old people.

It takes a perfect gentleman to use mild means to accomplish something when he could be more harsh just as well.

A man realizes how he is getting along in years, when some of his limited payment insurance policies mature.

There, no people who show their generosity, only when there are plenty witnesses.

Speeches of Prime Importance.
Whether it is the topic of conversation that never grows out of date. We are almost as nearly at the mercy of the sunbath, the rain and the snow storm as we were a century ago. Therefore we always scan the sky when we get up in the morning. It is almost instinctive, even with the city dweller. No farmer fails to take a long look at the sky when he first rises, for on the weather will depend his activities during the day.

Preferred Jail to Marriage.
A country judge in England has just delivered the most sentimental decision ever heard of in his particular "neck of the woods." He told a burglar he would suspend sentence on him if he would agree to marry and settle down or get a dog or cat in order to have something to work for. Oddly enough, the burglar couldn't see it that way, and took a year's imprisonment instead.

Novelist's Limitations.
The English public will not let me probe deeply into humanity. You must not select either woman or man; a surface view of the species that is wafer is acceptable. I have not peeked at any of the highest or deepest chords. Hence (possibly) those who have heard some of the chapters say it must be the best novel I have written.—From a Letter by George Meredith.

Remark Expressive.
A bicyclist was riding down hill when he hit a blow off. A passing countryman picked it up and took it to him as he heaved around, saying him the trouble of getting on. "It really must get a hanged to keep it on," remarked the cyclist, as he rode off without a word of thanks. The cyclist's reply was short, but expressive. "Get a nail," he said.

Getting Even.
Dela ate the luxury of the East end, and the fish shop stuck up proudly the notice "We sell cels to the king." From the opposite side of the road the rival salesman watched his customers diverted to the shop that claimed to supply the royal table with cels. And then, after a week's reflection, I put up the rival notice: "Good save the king!"—London Chronicle.

Best for Shoe Sales.
Rubber and asbestos solas has been utilized successfully for the manufacture of soles for cutting shoes. The material has the appearance of a thick, close felt, without odor, and without any discomfort in the foot, such as attends the use of pure rubber. These will be extensively introduced next season.

First Financial Center.
The Bank of Venice, established in 1157, was the financial center of the world; and when the Revival of Letters came, followed almost immediately by the invention of printing, it was Venice that led the world in the output of books and the spread of intelligence.

Inference There Somewhere.
"I don't think my husband loves me any more." "Why not?" "The other day I said to him: 'John, if I should die would you get married again?' and he said he wouldn't." "Isn't that all right?" "Yes, but I wish you could have heard the positive way he said it."

Authors Interested?
A new society has been organized in France under the title "The League Against the Lending of Books." It is asserted that the movement is really in the interest of authors, as every borrower may be considered as one buyer less.

Statesmen and Politicians.
A statesman is merely a politician with whom we agree. Neither is necessarily a leader of progress. Both are flies on the wheel, and we honor them in direct proportion to their riding ability.—Life.

Obvious.
We do not pretend to be much of a mind-reader, but when we see a lady hurrying downtown with a $10 bill in one hand and an advertisement in the other we know that she is thinking of doing some shopping.

Only Occasionally.
Occasionally one meets a man who is so sure of his own importance that he can, without feeling the slightest embarrassment, wear a tail hat in the presence of his employer.

Romance and Fiction.
When a very rich man marries a very poor girl, that's romance. When a very rich girl marries a very poor man, that's fiction.—Galveston News.

An Index.
A man is known by the importance of the things which he gets angry about.—Pack.

Stately's Latest Fad.
If the reports current in Paris are to be credited leaders of fashion will shortly startle their kinsmen by appearing with feet in slippers bare. The ladies desist from the names of hygiene and health and stockings as all wearers of all health forbid the correct. It is delicate white silk anklets will allowed and the toes of the fair were will settle under borders of broad woolen flowers. The same it will climb like creepers over the bare ankles.
This new fashion craze will lead, it is anticipated, to dresses imprinting a chaotic medley of the ladies' feet instead of on hands, and in view of such a proceeding taking place already some of the bachelors are proceeding to order their knee caps.—Brisbane.

Home Town Helps

ENGLISH TOWN IS A MODEL

Under the head Garden Cities English town gives us a splendid picture of an ideal garden city. He says the most perfect city I have ever seen or heard of is the famous city of English town, a suburb of Birmingham. I was simply transported by the beauty, the happiness and the beauty of the place and I believe it is the people more for their money than any city on earth. Any one who has seen the noble vision of a garden city would be intensely interested to see Bourneville.

Can you imagine yourself living in the city of English town? It is a suburban town of about 3,000 in all, where there are no bad odors and never can be any smoke noise or crowding factory smells. The streets are paved with gas light pipes or sewers. Wouldn't you like to play golf, tennis, cricket, lawn, or hockey under ideal circumstances at a cost of a few cents a day? Wouldn't you be satisfied with the social life of a community that has splendid schools, churches, baths, gymnasiums, meeting houses and one tenth of its whole area given up to parks and playgrounds? Wouldn't you feel safe in a city where the national birth rate has been doubled and the death rate cut in two? And what would you say to a handsome brick house of seven rooms and bath with an eighth of an acre already planted with fruit trees, roses, and lawn at a rental of $12.30 a month?

Bourneville was founded by George Cadbury, the cocoa manufacturer. Only 41 per cent of the renters at Bourneville are employees of the factory. The others came from any where and everywhere, and many of them spend their days in Birmingham. Consequently the social life is that of a normal, mixed community—not merely industrial or suburban. In the second place, Bourneville really pays. The city's chief source of income is rent. Everybody pays 8 per cent on the investment actually made in his house and lot. The city's income doubles every five years (it is now fifteen years old) and in fifty years at this rate it will have an annual income of about $500,000. And since it will never have to pay back Mr. Cadbury's gift of about $77,000 the city will have a large sum available for building other cities. Like Bourneville.

TREES FOR CITY STREETS

Silver Wattle is Considered One of the Best That is Available at the Present

Accidents on the silver wattle are one of the best trees for city street planting, and are indeed the silver wattle is the very best. We are still in our infancy. In the street tree question for many has been sufficiently proven to give us a permanent opinion as to its comparative value. We plant out a new tree, and after four or five years find it is a failure. It is a failure. At the end of another five years the same tree may be a wretched subject quite unfit for street planting. The silver wattle has stood the test of time, yet city streets do not want it for they will not properly plant and care for it. While the silver wattle should be as well cared for as it conducts itself properly with a little less restriction than the pepper tree and is really the most beautiful of all trees.

Garden Club's Good Work

The garden club of Birmingham has shown how simple is the problem of making a beautiful lot. Last summer it succeeded in getting sunflowers and other plants to grow on nearly four miles of street front of vacant land. This seemed the rubbish heaps from view. In one street the club cleared every unoccupied lot and planted grass and flowers where the rubbish had been. When the season closed the club had under its care a thousand or more lot gardens and eighteen thousand home gardens. A youth's companion.

Model Dwellings for the Poor

The Princess Polignac formerly Miss Wilmaretta Slinger has just opened in Paris the Foundation Slinger Polignac an apartment house for 64 families. These are designed to give healthful living conditions for the poor. The buildings are of brick and iron. A room and kitchen may be had for $4 a year with a dining room in addition. 160 with two rooms and a large kitchen dining room, bathroom and bedroom $82. There are no stairs below the $100 rate, which is a fine. A garden costs $1 a year in addition.

For Tidier Streets

Five men decide that the city should be clean and tidy and some of the men decide where they could be in maintaining an orderly city. Was a paper scattered about it? The worst few acres of street and it is conspicuous in its ugliness.

GREAT EMPEROR'S PET NAME

In Home Circle German War Lord Permits Himself to Be Known as "Willy."

In the Woman's Home Companion there is an intimate personal story of Emperor William's only daughter, Victoria Luise, in which many new facts are brought out about the emperor and empress of Germany. Following is a brief extract.

The emperor in absence of his consort speaks of her as my wife, the empress in the home circle addresses him as Willy. The former adds to his family from the crown prince to the princess as my young ones. The latter speaks of them not in 1914 but as my children. Both expressions so clearly convey the close existing relationship.

Very often the emperor gives evidence of unexpected moments of the present thought with him of his family. At times when they were small children and he was being entertained at state banquets as the guest of princess or cities he would slip into his pocket quietly saying: These are for the young ones something from home. At such times better I know that from experience.

It is told of the emperor that in Rome when he was selecting a gown to take home as a present to the empress a relative advised as choice an elaborate creation mainly of lace. Impossible! he answered. With the children constantly clambering over her it would soon be in ribbons.

DEEPEST DEPTHS OF POVERTY

Section in Italian Capital That Might Challenge Comparison With Any World City

The problem of life among the poor of Rome Italy has been illustrated by Prof. Domenico Orsini, who recently wrote a book dealing with the miserable condition of the inhabitants of the Testaccio quarter, the most densely populated district of Rome.

Out of the 10,000 inhabitants of this quarter scattered in 82 tenement houses there are 7,1 families who cannot afford to rent apartments but are forced to sublet enough space in rooms where they can sleep. There are 713 single room apartments in the quarter and 108 rooms are occupied by five persons each 75 by 25 by 8 while the rest afford shelter to from 10 to 15 people. The rent for sleeping space in each room varies from $1 to $5 a month.

The hygienic conditions of the tenement houses in this area are very bad. As a rule the poor people of Rome live on vegetable soup with meat and bread as they cannot afford to eat either meat or fish but to make up for their scanty diet they drink wine freely. There are 18 wine shops in the quarter and only three places where one can buy wine. The average daily consumption of wine is 100,000 liters for 10,000 people including women and children.

able, but very early and especially recommended for boll weevil territory where an early cotton is so absolutely necessary to success. The first three are big bolls with fibrous leading, with forty select bolls to the pound. All are planted early and kept pure. Buy a few bushels now and see the results of early, the entire crop when the boll weevil reach you.

Also have Dillman acknowledged by Government experts to be the bright better than any cotton grown in Alabama. Picked seed corn at $5 per bushel. And all varieties in the experimental 1911. 1 pound in the bushel shell one bushel good seed. W. H. Ballard agent

THERE'S ALWAYS SOMETHING GOING HERE IN DOOTHAN

It is not that there is always something doing in the lives of the people here, but so it is with all great cities, especially the great cities of the world. This is when you can ask a few questions and see how up with the times in Dothan. It is not so now for the city and not to know what is going on in the business line and not mention the political part.

Within the past few weeks the no vapors have had the pleasure of handling some good looking things along the production line to Dothan. The new $100,000 water and light plant proposition. And through the city plant in which was granted and a plant costing $40,000 will be erected. A street car line is being considered by the council. The white exposition solved names and list of the city and the city of the city to be a and the contract of the city night into day. Don't live with the Friday and a new Monsieur Christian. As often seems to be the case. Besides this, many other and other things that have been carried here within the last year and this city will no doubt second in the shipping of leather in the state. The sidewalk and the city have been paved so well that if you are walking and want to feel the earth under your feet turn down some sidewalk and have done it. Other improvements have been made. In fact there is no more to mention.

HENDERSON AND TITCHING BEAT YIELD TO 'EMO TREATMENT

Why should you continue to be perpetrated with salve, greasy lotions and fancy hair dressings trying to rid your scalp of germ life. They can't do it. Have they can't penetrate to the seat of the trouble and draw the germ life to the surface of the scalp and destroy it.

Why not a PROVEN REMEDY
LYE. One treatment will do this. We have a remedy that will rid the scalp of germ life and in this way will cure DANDY, ITCHING, and TITCHING, SCALP.

This remedy is a TRMO a clean refreshing scalp tonic that does right to the seat of the trouble and drives the germ life to the suface and destroys it.

A shampoo with LYMO (ANTH-SEPTIC) and one application of EMO will entirely rid the scalp of dandruff. Do not buy bottle of EMO today without principle and will we claim for it.
Sold and the druggist.

Coming Every Day

Our buyers have just returned from the Eastern markets, and every day's express is bringing us the newest things for women's wear

Next week's paper will be telling of some of them.

Miss Hudson, who was with us last season, will be with us again this season. She has been in the market for us and her selections are pleasing to the public.
